

The Impact of Labour Scheduling

Companies that automate scheduling are 1.6 times more likely to cite engagement levels above the industry average.

31%

of retailers admit to being understaffed and 22% overstaffed for at least half the time.

When scheduling accuracy reaches 90% you can expect 58% less unplanned overtime.

While most retailers worldwide say work schedules are posted 1-2 weeks in advance, 86% add that schedules are later amended.

81%

Companies that automate scheduling are 81% more likely to have better customer retention than competitors.

59% of retailers say scheduling technology has a positive impact on productivity.

On average, managers spend up to 10% of their working week on manual scheduling.

56%

of retailers worldwide say it is a challenge to build work schedules that meet customer, business, and employee demands.

Companies that automate scheduling are 1.8 times more likely to have low turnover rates.

Our purpose is people

Contact UKG here: ukg.co.uk/contact